BARCELONA -NIGHT- NATURE

Barcelona nature by night:

A walk through the most unknown nature

The sun goes down and a new Barcelona awakes. Nature surprises us with magical sensations that make us discover unsuspected perspectives. Walking away from the noise and the more traveled spaces, accompanied by an experienced guide, we can discover another side of the night in the big city.

Strolling along the crest of the Sierra de Collserola or the more natural side of the mountain of Montjuïc, we will surprise you with unfamiliar views of the city, where the light shapes the landscape and the city becomes a new living space of lights and sounds .

The night is an ideal moment to approach the nearby nature through our senses. Sounds that reveal new dwellers of the night, scents that show us flowers that we do not see or that might bloom in the dark, while we find our way guided by touch.

We propose to discover a Barcelona's other nightlife, away from the busiest areas and the possibility of seeing a city landscape that few people enjoy. This is an experience for those who love adventure without risk and curious people who want to live another side of reality.
